

Ella was rushed to the NICU after a very difficult birth and placed on a cooling mat for three days to reduce swelling in her brain. As Hana watched her baby shiver for 72 long hours, she imagined warm blankets of prayers covering Ella to give her the strength to make it through that critical time. And thanks to the steadfast support of all those who love her, she dia. What a joy it is to be a part of the circle of Friends who cheer on brave little champs like Ella.
